It is twenty-five years since the founding of Freeport/Lucaya, and residents enjoy the pleasures of numerous technological discoveries, including AM/FM stereo music and news from radio stations far and wide, and of course, excellent television reception.

Night 'N Day T.V., formerly owned by Wometco International, owners of American Television Stations and Movie Theatres, has served this community since 1964. The company has grown and developed along with all introductions of new scientific discoveries and practical inventions.

Therefore, when one enters the tastefully decorated display room of Night 'N Day on Queens Highway, late model RCA Fisher and other appliances and professionalism of the experienced staff become immediately apparent.

Not only is the present ownership-which is totally Bahamian concerned about being current and experienced, they also stress the fact that they back up any sale, with a warranty and service.

For individuals who qualify, financing is available, making the possession of a remote control colour television or any other substantial purchase a reasonable reality.

Further, management is conscientious about the future of its chosen industry. In this respect they have embarked upon an educational program, to meet the coming requirements. To date, one Bahamian student is sponsored by the company in the United States, and a trainee is kept on staff.

Finally, in conjunction with Oxford Insurance Company, Night 'N Day T.V. sponsors a walk-a-thon for the Grand Bahama Centre for the Deaf, annually, and also supports a Bowling team and one in the Junior Baseball league.
